Refrain (Slowly)

The world is just a beautiful song that God created for you, From mountains high comes a lullabye Crooned by heavens of blue The call of birds like magical words Lights up the path that is long Angels above send sweet music and love To make the world a beautiful song The beautiful song!

Beloved, how

saddly they sighed— The wind and the willows Shadows clung——my pathway Dark were the storm——rent

skies——My eyes saw——but grey hanging clouds——Oer life’s surging billows Then you came——to me——And I looked in——your eyes——

Star of mine, at last

The light of true love is shining

Gone the sorrowed past,

Gone beyond repining.
See the rose be dewed,
It tells of a life renewed,
Paradise is mine
When love lives in your heart!

I saw but the shadowy night — The rain on the river — Heard no sweet voice singing Naught but the plaintive string sigh. I knew not compassion's fair grace, The joy of the giver, Winter days are gone, Blue is the summer sky.
Star of mine, at last,
The light of true love is shining.

Gone the sorrowed past,

Gone beyond repining.

death of love so fond,

For you were all my world to
And all of life beyond;

But life and love and hope have fled

From earth, from sea, and from the sky!

My every dream is doomed and dead,

Because you say—Good-bye.
Little Girl Of Long Ago

Lyric by JOE CONE

Music by MAURICE BARON

Andante simplice

Piano

Lit-tle girl of Long A-go,

Eyes of blue and hair of tow,

a tempo

Cheeks as red as sun-set skies,

Light-ing up your laugh-ing eyes,

How I loved you, did you know?

Lit-tle girl of Long A-go!

* For Duet: Soprano or Tenor sings small notes, 8 or Baritone small notes an octave lower

How I loved you, did you know?—Little girl of Long Ago!

Little girl of Long Ago,
We are older, as you know.
Years have length-ened since we stood In the mea-dow

near the wood, Where we quar-reld, You and I,

O'er a tri-fle, fool-ish-ly. And I left you sob-bing so; Little girl of Long-ago.
